IN THE COMMUNITY

THE SEATTLE MARINERS COMMITMENT TO THE COMMUNITY

The Seattle Mariners have long been dedicated to serving our communities. It is in our DNA as an organization and part of everything we do.

In an effort to more effectively focus our resources to ensure our communities are equitable places where everyone can thrive, the Mariners have reimagined our approach to Community Relations with the launch of the Seattle Mariners Foundation.

Through the Foundation, the Mariners are investing in partnerships and organizations focused on the key areas of health and economic equity across the region.

Through the Seattle Mariners Foundation, we will leverage our strengths to raise visibility for key issues of inequity facing people in our communities while addressing the root causes through direct investments and support of research and policy advocacy. We partner with people and organizations closest to the needs and the communities most directly affected, and we prioritize our business practices as a starting point for impact.

Priorities for 2021 include increasing positive health outcomes for marginalized youth in the Pacific Northwest in the areas of play equity, advocating for mental health resources for young adults and supporting community partners actively responding to the broader impacts of the COVID-19 crisis on marginalized communities.

The Mariners have committed a minimum of $1 million for Community Impact Grants to organizations that promote racial justice and social equity through policy, advocacy and community-based initiatives. Beginning in 2021, grants will be awarded annually over the next five years.

Commitment to Equity

On BASE (Baseball And Softball Everywhere) is a Seattle Mariners youth baseball and softball initiative that is designed to make the sports more equitable and accessible for all young athletes regardless of any barriers they may face. Since 2018, On BASE has defrayed the cost of registration fees, awarded grants to high school baseball and softball programs in underserved communities, provided anti-bias and skills training for area coaches and offered skills-building youth clinics and camps around Western Washington.

IN THE COMMUNITY

Hometown Nine aims to help marginalized youth, including communities of color, continue to play baseball and softball and advance their educations from eighth grade through their senior year in high school. Thanks in part to a $50,000 donation from T-Mobile as the first and founding partner of Hometown Nine, the Mariners pay fees associated with travel/select baseball/softball training and equipment. Mariners players and Front Office staff provide mentorship for the students to help them succeed on the field and in the classroom. In addition to assisting the young players, Hometown Nine aims to create a pipeline of diverse players in high school, collegiate and professional baseball by removing a major barrier to elite play—the high cost associated with select baseball. The second group of Hometown Nine participants will be selected this year to join the cohort in the Inaugural Class.

Home Base:

With the third highest rate of homelessness in the U.S., Seattle/King County are facing a crisis. A recent study found that eviction, often caused by non-payment of rent, due to a one-time emergency, is the leading cause of homelessness, a problem that disproportionately impacts historically marginalized communities. In 2018, the Mariners stepped forward with a $3 million founding grant to establish Home Base, an eviction prevention program in partnership with United Way of King County and the King County Bar Association.

In 2019 alone, 1,473 households avoided eviction, representing over 4,000 people who did not end up on the streets. More than 70% of those who received help through Home Base were Black, Indigenous or people of color.

As the economic crisis caused by the COVID-19 pandemic swept across Washington, Home Base's mission expanded to help people before eviction occurred with rental support to struggling tenants. In the first four months, Home Base helped 3,100 households, representing over 9,000 people. United Way estimated that during the COVID-19 crisis, Home Base will have served over 22,000 people in need.

Thanks to the Mariners catalytic founding donation, Home Base has secured over $30 million in funding from private and public sources and is key component in the region's unified response to the homelessness crisis.

SEATTLE MARINERS FOUNDATION

Seattle Mariners Foundation, the Seattle Mariners non-profit foundation, and its corporate partners, helped provide $1.5 million for a variety of charitable programs throughout the Northwest in 2020. Since 1991, when Mariners Care was established, the nonprofit has helped raise over $28 million to benefit primarily youth-oriented community service programs.

IN THE COMMUNITY

"In a community as vibrant and successful as ours, it's heartbreaking that so many people don't have the most basic necessity of a warm, dry, safe place to live. Home Base can make an important and lasting difference in the lives of thousands of people, and the Seattle Mariners are proud to be a part of this innovative, collaborative solution."

– John Stanton, Seattle Mariners Chairman & Managing Partner

"The crisis of homelessness is a regional problem that requires a community-wide solution. Home Base is a homeless prevention program that uses a collaborative approach to bring together legal services and flexible financial assistance to prevent evictions, the leading cause of homelessness. The Seattle Mariners are proud to help launch a program that is on track to help thousands of people each year stay in their homes."

– Fred Rivera, Seattle Mariners Executive Vice President & General Counsel

IN THE COMMUNITY

ON BASE Programs

In 2018, the Mariners unveiled On BASE, an initiative designed to make baseball and softball more accessible to young players across the Pacific Northwest. On BASE supports a network of coaches, athletes, and community members who collaborate together to increase access to safe, competitive, and positive playing experiences for young athletes ages 5-18 across the Pacific Northwest.

In addition to existing youth baseball and softball programs, On BASE encompasses a variety of new efforts across the Northwest to address challenges young athletes face in their communities. On BASE provides grants for baseball and softball teams, training opportunities for youth coaches and young athletes and provides financial assistance to those who are not able to afford the cost to play.

ON BASE PROGRAMS

On BASE Youth Clinics: The Mariners host On BASE Youth Clinics to help young athletes gain exposure to bat-and-ball sports and encourage continued play in their local youth leagues.

On BASE Coaches Clinics: The Mariners believe that a memorable and transformative playing experience start with a motivated and dedicated coach. The Mariners host multiple On BASE Coaches Clinics throughout the Pacific Northwest. Coaches Clinics cover topics such as preparing practice plans, anti-bias training, creating a safe space for LGBTQ+ athletes and more. The Mariners also partner with Team Up Washington, an initiative that uses "sports as a platform to end sexual assault and dating abuse," and provides training for "Coaching Boys Into Men and Athletes as Leaders, two violence prevention programs for high school athletes."

Mariners Grand Slam Camps: The Mariners offer summer baseball and softball camps throughout the greater Puget Sound Area. Mariners Grand Slam Camps provide an affordable, low-cost, and unique experience and develop skills for players ages 7-14 of all skill levels, and feature instruction by professional educators, former pros, and current college players.

Mariners Equipment Donation Grant: The Mariners Care Equipment Donation Grant program annually awards ten $5,000 grants to high school baseball and softball teams in Washington and Oregon to help pay for equipment, uniforms, field maintenance and other expenses associated with operating a successful program. Since 2018, the Equipment Donation Grant Program has provided $200,000 to help high school baseball and softball teams across the Pacific Northwest overcome socio-economic barriers.

JERRY DIPOTO

Executive Vice President & General Manager, Baseball Operations

Jerry Dipoto (dih-POH-toe) was named as the ninth General Manager in Seattle Mariners history after being hired on Sept. 28, 2015.

In his first three seasons in charge (2016-18), the Mariners had the 5th-most wins in the American League, trailing only Boston, Houston, Cleveland and New York.

Prior to 2019, Dipoto led a re-imagining of the Mariners, making 8 trades in a 6-week period between Nov. 8-Dec. 21 to acquire 16 players and position a younger, more athletic, deeper, more controllable roster for greater success in the future. Beginning last season and accelerating in 2020 and 2021, that talent will populate the Mariners Major League roster.

In 2018, Seattle won 89 games, its highest total in 15 seasons, and the team's 253 wins over 2016-18 is its highest total in a three-year span since 2001-2003.

In 2017, Jerry and his staff managed through a flood of injuries (22 different injured list placements) and used 61 different players, including 40 pitchers (17 starters) while remaining relevant in the wild card race into the seasons final days despite having four of the projected five starting pitchers spend time on the IL.

In his first months on the job in 2016, Dipoto completely remade the Mariners Major League roster, as well as revamping the Mariners Major League staff, scouting and player development departments.

The reshaping of the roster and minor league system resulted in the 2016 Mariners organization playing 927 total games (at all levels) and only one -- the final regular season game for the big league club -- not having playoff implications. The Mariners were in the race through 161 games, and each of the seven minor league affiliates advanced to the postseason.

Prior to being hired by Seattle, Dipoto was working as a Special Assistant for the Boston Red Sox. He joined the Sox after resigning from his position as the Los Angeles Angels General Manager on July 1, 2015.

Notable acquisitions during his Angels tenure included trades for All-Stars Huston Street, Zack Greinke, David Freese and Héctor Santiago, and the free agent signings of Albert Pujols (2011) and C.J. Wilson (2011).

In his 21st season as a baseball executive, and his 10th as a General Manager, Jerry got his start immediately after retiring as a player in 2001. He was a special assistant for the Colorado Rockies (2001-02), followed by two seasons working in the scouting department for the Boston Red Sox (2003-04). He returned to the Rockies as the Director of Player Personnel (2005) and then moved to the Arizona organization as Vice President of Player Personnel (2006-10) and was appointed the Diamondbacks interim General Manager on July 1, 2010. He spent the 2011 season as the D-Backs Sr. VP of Scouting and Player Development.

Dipoto appeared in 390 Major League games, all in relief, with the Indians (1993-94), New York Mets (1995-96) and Colorado Rockies (1997-2000). A right-handed pitcher, he compiled a career 27-24 record with 49 saves and a 4.05 ERA prior to retiring during Spring Training in 2001 with a bulging disc in his neck.

He was originally selected by the Cleveland Indians in the 3rd round of the 1989 June Draft out of Virginia Commonwealth University (Richmond, VA). Dipoto led the Rams to their first appearance in the NCAA Tournament in 1988 and remains in the top 10 in VCU history in several pitching categories. Dipoto played high school baseball at Toms River High School North in New Jersey.

HOW TO FIGURE

Batting Average — Divide the total number of hits collected by a player by the total number of at bats. Example: Player A is 12-of-40 or .300.

Slugging Percentage — Divide the number of total bases by the total number of at bats. Example: Player A's 12 hits include six singles (6), one double (2), two triples (6) and three home runs (12) for a total of 26 total bases in 40 at bats and a .650 slugging percentage.

On-Base Percentage — Divide the total of hits, walks and hit by pitch by the total of at bats, all bases on balls, hit by pitch and sacrifice flies.

Earned Run Average — The total number of earned runs allowed by a pitcher is divided by the total number of innings pitched and then multiplied by nine for his per-game average. Example: Pitcher B has allowed 12 earned runs in 45 innings of work for a 2.40 ERA.

Fielding Percentage — The sum of putouts and assists is divided by the sum of putouts, assists and errors. Example: Player C has made 16 putouts and 24 assists and two errors. That's 40 putouts and assists divided by 42 chances for a fielding average of .952.

Magic Number — Determine the number of games yet to be played by the division leader, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the loss column of the standings from the closest opponent.

Guidelines for Selection to the Mariners Hall of Fame and Retirement of Uniform Number

The Mariners Hall of Fame was established in 1997 to honor the great players and other individuals who make positive contributions to the history of the Mariners franchise.

I. Eligible Candidates -

A. Active in a Mariners uniform for a substantial and/or meaningful portion of their Major League career.

B. Ceased to be active in the Major Leagues at least two seasons preceding the selection, but may be otherwise connected with baseball.

To be eligible for consideration, non-uniformed personnel should meet the following requirements:

A. Full-time employee of the Mariners for at least five seasons.

B. Made significant contributions to Mariners baseball and the franchise, either on or off the field.

II. Method of Selection – The Mariners governing board, the Board of Directors of Baseball of Seattle, Inc., makes the selections for the Mariners Hall of Fame. Such selections may be made at the initiative of the Board, or at the recommendation of the Chairman and the President of the Mariners, the Mariners front office, Mariners players, members of the media or the fans.

III. Criteria for Selection – The primary criterion for inclusion in the Mariners Hall of Fame for players shall be the on-field impact a player had while in a Mariners uniform. The measure of a player's impact shall primarily be the statistical record created by the player. A player's impact on the Northwest community outside the game of baseball; and a player's positive impact in enhancing the image of the Seattle Mainers or Major League Baseball will also be considered.

The Mariners will consider other factors, such as:

1. Statistical impact on the field while in a non-Mariners uniform, whether before or after his tenure with the Mariners;
2. A player's positive impact on the Northwest community outside the game of baseball; and
3. A player's positive impact in enhancing the image of the Seattle Mariners or Major League Baseball.

IV. Time of Selection – The Board will consider recommendations of eligible candidates at least once each year, typically at its annual business meeting each fall. There may be more than one selection in a given year, and there may be no selection at all.

V. Retirement of Uniform Number – The Mariners plan to retire uniform numbers only very selectively and subject to substantially higher expectations than those applied to the Mariners Hall of Fame. To be eligible to have one's number retired, in addition to the criteria outlined above, the former Mariners should have either a) been elected to the National Baseball Hall of Fame and been in a Mariners uniform for at least five years, or b) come close to such election and spent his entire career or a substantial portion of his career with the Mariners. Eligibility shall not commence until after the former player has been voted on once for the National Baseball Hall of Fame, which for all practical purposes means six years after retirement. In this regard, the Mariners will take into consideration the policy of other American League clubs in retiring uniform numbers. This determination will also be made by the Board.

VI. Amendments – The Seattle Mariners reserve the right to alter and amend these guidelines at any time.

MARINERS RETIRED NUMBERS

KEN GRIFFEY JR.'s number 24 was retired by the Seattle Mariners on August 6, 2016 in a pre-game ceremony at T-Mobile Park…Griffey became the 1st Mariner to have his number retired by the club… Griffey's number 24 was retired at every level of the Mariners organization…prior to Griffey, only five Mariners had worn number 24; Griffey wore number 24 for 13 seasons with the Mariners, beginning with his debut in 1989 and culminating with his final season in 2010…his number 24 hangs on the facade of the 2nd deck in left-center field, immediately to the right of Jackie Robinson's number 42…Griffey was the first player to request to honor Jackie by wearing his number 42 on April 15, 1997 at Cleveland.

EDGAR MARTINEZ's number 11 was retired by the Seattle Mariners on August 12, 2017 in a pre-game ceremony at T-Mobile Park…Martinez became the 2nd Mariner to have his number retired by the club, joining his former teammate Ken Griffey Jr. (number 24)…Martinez's number 11 hangs on the facade of the 2nd deck in left-center field, immediately to the right of Griffey's number 24…wore number 11 for 18 seasons as a player (1987-2004) and 4 seasons as a Major League hitting coach (2015-18), all with the Mariners…was the 8th and final player in club history to be issued number 11…became 7th player or manager to have number 11 retired by a Major League club…has appeared in more games than any pro athlete in Seattle sports history.

JACKIE ROBINSON's number 42 was retired universally throughout Major League Baseball on April 15, 1997, celebrating the 50th anniversary of his ground-breaking debut… in a ceremony prior to a game between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the New York Mets at Shea Stadium, Commissioner Bud Selig announced that Robinson's number 42 would be permanently retired across MLB…Robinson became the first African-American player in MLB in 1947 and was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1962.

CHRIS BOSIO

DATE: April 22, 1993 OPPONENT: Boston VENUE: Kingdome CATCHER: Dave Valle

Chris Bosio was working on only three days' rest when he walked the first two Red Sox batters he faced on April 22, 1993. But Bosio bounced back to get Mike Greenwell to hit into a double play on his way to retiring 26 consecutive batters.

Seattle's infield of Tino Martinez (1B), Bret Boone (2B), Omar Vizquel (SS) and Mike Blowers (3B) backed up Bosio by successfully converting 16 groundball outs.

The second no-hitter in Mariners club history ended when Vizquel barehanded Ernie Riles' chopper over second base and fired a strike to Martinez at first base.

ALL-STAR GAMES IN SEATTLE

July 17, 1979 National League 7, American League 6

MVP: Dave Parker (PIT) Ceremonial First Pitch: Danny Kaye
Mariners All-Stars: Bruce Bochte (1B), Darrell Johnson (coach)

MLB's 50th All-Star Game was played at the Kingdome on July 17, 1979, in just the third season of the Mariners franchise.

The National League won 7-6, and the game featured 16 future Hall of Fame players. Both managers (Bob Lemon-AL and Tommy Lasorda-NL) have also been inducted in Cooperstown. The sellout crowd of 58,905 was a Seattle baseball record at the time. The Kingdome was considered a "home run paradise" but only two homers were hit in the game (Fred Lynn and Lee Mazzilli).

Mariners first baseman Bruce Bochte was greeted with a long standing ovation during pre-game introductions, and had the first hit and RBI by a Mariner in All-Star competition. Pittsburgh's Dave Parker, with a hit, an RBI and assists on two classic throws from right field to third base and home plate, was named the Game's MVP.

Mets center fielder Lee Mazzilli played a big role for the NL, belting a solo home run off Texas' Jim Kern in the 8th inning to even the score at 6-6. In the top of the 9th, Mazzilli drew a bases-loaded walk off the Yankees Ron Guidry to give the National League a 7-6 lead.

A pair of Hall of Famer pitchers got the starting assignments: Nolan Ryan for the American League and Steve Calrton for the National League.

The 50th Midsummer Classic was the first baseball game broadcast to a national audience from the Kingdome.

After a prolonged ovation from the crowd of 47,364 when he came to the plate in the third inning for the first time, Cal homered on the first pitch he saw. He was later named the Game's MVP.

The Mariners, in the midst of a record-setting 116 wins, were represented by eight players. Freddy Garcia was the winning pitcher, Kazuhiro Sasaki earned the save, while Ichiro Suzuki and Mike Cameron hit safely.

MARINERS ALL-STAR HISTORY

The Mariners have a rich All-Star Game history. The club has hosted two All-Star Games, sent 89 players, as well as six coaches, to the Midsummer Classic and boasts three Most Valuable Players and three starting pitchers.

'07 ASG MVP Ichiro Suzuki

In 1979, the All-Star Game was played in Seattle for the first time, as the Kingdome was the site of 7-6 National League victory. The Midsummer Classic returned to Seattle in 2001 for a 4-1 American League triumph at T-Mobile Park.

'92 ASG MVP Ken Griffey Jr.

The Mariners first All-Star representative was outfielder Ruppert Jones in 1977. Jones was just 22 years of age at the time, and he remained the club's youngest All-Star until a 20-year-old Ken Griffey Jr. in 1990.

Griffey and Ichiro Suzuki share the club record for most All-Star Game appearances with 10 apiece. Edgar Martinez earned 7 trips to the Midsummer Classic, while Félix Hernández had 6 and Randy Johnson had 5.

Five Mariners were selected to the 2003 All-Star Game in Chicago (AL), including 40-year-olds Martinez and Jamie Moyer. The Mariners became the first club in All-Star Game history to have a pair of 40-year-old players appear in the same Midsummer Classic.

'17 ASG MVP Robinson Canó

In 2001, Freddy Garcia earned the win, while Kazuhiro Sasaki picked up the save in front of the hometown crowd. Edwin Diaz was credited with the win in the 2018 All-Star Game.

2018	4	Nelson Cruz, Edwin Díaz, Mitch Haniger, Jean Segura

This group combined for 28 All-Star Game appearances with the Mariners.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS

Three Mariners have been named Most Valuable Player of the Midsummer Classic: Ken Griffey Jr. in 1992 (at San Diego), Ichiro Suzuki in 2007 (at San Francisco) and Robinson Cano in 2017 (at Miami).

HOME RUNS AT THE ALL-STAR GAME

Griffey, Suzuki and Cano headline a list of six Mariners who have homered in the All-Star Game. They are joined by Edgar Martinez, who went deep of Greg Maddux at the 1997 summer showcase in Cleveland. One year later, Alex Rodriguez hit a solo home run off Andy Ashby in Denver. In 2018, Jean Segura pinch hit in the 8th inning and belted a go-ahead, three-run homer off Josh Hader in Washington, D.C.

STARTING PITCHERS

The two most successful pitchers in club history are also the only two Mariners pitchers to earn the starting nod in an All-Star Game.

Randy Johnson entered the 1995 All-Star Break with a record of 9-1, having struck out 152 batters in 109.1 innings of work. The Big Unit was on his way to his first career Cy Young Award when he was named the starting pitcher for the American League by manager Buck Showalter. Johnson worked 2.0 scoreless innings at The Ballpark in Arlington, fanning Barry Bonds, Fred McGriff and Ron Gant. Two years later, Johnson was again tabbed to start for the AL by manager Joe Torre. He tossed 2.0 scoreless innings in Cleveland, fanning Bonds and Craig Biggio.

In the first half of 2014, Félix Hernández ranked among the top-2 American League leaders in wins, ERA, innings and strikeouts, earning the start for the AL from manager John Farrell. Hernández struck out Yasiel Puig and Troy Tulowitzki in 1.0 scoreless inning in Minneapolis.

T-MOBILE PARK

T-Mobile Park is the home of the Seattle Mariners. Since the Inaugural Game on July 15, 1999, more than 50,000,000 fans have passed through the gates of the ballpark.

The Mariners are truly a regional team, drawing from one of the largest geographic home territories in Major League Baseball – Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Alaska and parts of Western Canada. We have learned from surveys that over half our fans come from outside King County, and nearly half (48%) tell us they travel more than one hour to get to the ballpark on game days.

Once they arrive at T-Mobile Park, fans are treated to one of the best ballparks in baseball, with a combination of the charm of a classic ballpark and the modern touches that make a fan's game experience that much better, including free WiFi and one of the largest HD videoscreens in all of MLB.

Sightlines from all seating areas are designed for optimal viewing. There are plenty of places to gather and casually watch the game while enjoying the beauty of the natural surroundings of Puget Sound and the downtown Seattle skyline.

In addition to baseball, T-Mobile Park has hosted such events as varied as U.S. Men's soccer matches, Women's Gold Cup Soccer, the 2001 Seattle Bowl NCAA football game, WWE's Wrestlemania XIX, the WIAA State High School Baseball Championships, high school and collegiate baseball games, major concerts, numerous graduations, weddings, proms, trade shows, birthday parties and holiday celebrations.

Over the years, T-Mobile Park has received numerous honors and appeared on many Top 10 and "best" lists. The ballpark was one of only two Seattle buildings to be named in the American Institute of Architects poll of America's favorite buildings. Opposing players have named it their second favorite ballpark to play in, behind Wrigley Field (MLB.com players' survey). ESPN.com staff and readers named the ballpark among their Top 10 in separate surveys, and noted travel guidebook Zagat ranked T-Mobile Park one of the top family-friendly attractions in the nation.

T-Mobile Park has achieved something fans, public officials and the Mariners ownership craved for most of the franchise's history – stability for Major League Baseball in the Northwest. The public-private partnership that built the ballpark resulted in a beautiful facility for all to enjoy and a solid foundation for the Seattle Mariners. The Mariners 25-year lease agreement with the Washington State Major League Baseball Stadium Public Facilities District obligates the Mariners to pay over $600 million to maintain and improve T-Mobile Park to ensure that it remains in first-class condition and among the best ballparks in baseball.

RETRACTABLE ROOF

During the 60-Game 2020 season, the T-Mobile Park retractable roof was closed (or moved during play) in 12 of 30 home games. By comparison, during the 2019 season, the roof was closed (or moved) for 14 of 81 games (17%). Since T-Mobile Park opened in July 1999, the roof has been in use during 367 of 1,697 games (21.6%). The roof is necessary to guard against the risk of a rain out. With almost half of all fans reporting that they drive an hour or more to get to T-Mobile Park, fans are assured that if they make the trip, they'll see a ballgame.

T-Mobile Park's retractable roof covers but does not enclose the field and seating areas, thus preserving an open-air environment. The structure has a footprint of nearly nine acres, weighs 22 million pounds, and contains enough steel to build a 55-story skyscraper. The three movable panels glide on 128 steel wheels powered by 96 10-horsepower electric motors. The roof can extend or retract in 10-20 minutes, depending on weather conditions.

SCOREBOARD SYSTEM

T-Mobile Park is home to one of the largest HD videoscreens in all of MLB. The LED technology Sanyo system measures 56.7' high by 201.5' wide. The total viewing area, 11,425 square feet, is equal to about 2,182 42-inch flat screen TVs. The 1080p x 3840 screen resolution provides image quality that is superior to broadcast HD signals. The video screen can be programmed for live action or video replays, split into sectors for graphics and animation and statistical data. The videoscreen integrates seamlessly with the Out-of-Town LED board and the LED ribbon boards on the Terrace Club fascia.

PLAYING FIELD

T-Mobile Park's playing surface is designed for the Northwest climate and the retractable roof. The 100% Kentucky bluegrass turf provides a durable playing surface that grows well despite low levels of direct sunlight. The retractable roof can remain closed, if needed, for six consecutive days without harming the grass. The entire playing surface was rebuilt after the 2017 season and new sod was installed prior to the 2020 season.

CONCESSIONS AND RESTAURANTS

T-Mobile Park's concessions and catering services are provided by Centerplate, one of the nation's largest providers of food, catering, merchandise and facility management services for sports, convention and entertainment venues. Fans will find a variety of fresh, high-quality choices from the Northwest and around the world available at the ballpark including local favorites such as Ivar's and Kidd Valley. T-Mobile Park consulting chef Ethan Stowell has created a variety of menu items including grass-fed burgers, house-made BBQ beef and Dungeness crab sandwiches, all using fresh, local ingredients. Fans will also find sushi and other Asian delicacies, organic, gluten-free and vegetarian options, as well as classic ballpark fare. The Hit it Here Café and Edgar's Cantina provide seating before and during games, and the members-only Terrace Club, KeyBank Diamond Club, Emerald Queen All-Star Club, private and group suites offer a selection of creative and delicious food.

SPECIAL FEATURES

T-Mobile Park has a number of unique and interesting areas for fans to enjoy before and during games. The T-Mobile 'Pen is an event-within-an-event. Located behind left and center field, the area features premium concessions from chef Stowell including his brick oven Ballard Pizza, The Rail bar and Caught Looking Lounge, a Seattle Mariners Team Store, as well as the Fan Walk personalized bricks. The terraces behind the center field fence offer a lively atmosphere to meet and mingle with other fans and one of the best views of the game.

Newly remodeled (and renamed), the Trident Deck is located at the end of the left field line on the 300 (View) Level. The full service bar with a casual backyard-like feel has bench seating and picnic tables. The space is available for sale to groups during games and open to all fans when not in use for group events.

The new Rooftop Boardwalk above the Home Plate Gate Rotunda on the View Level includes a raised walkway for enhanced views of Puget Sound, bench seating and tables, monitors, destination concession stands, a new bar area, and Kids Corner baseball themed activities. The space is available for sale to groups for pregame events and open to all fans at game time.

The Terrace Club has two new seating concepts with the addition of 18 Terrace Club Tables that accommodate four people each as well as 10 Terrace Club Loge Boxes with padded sofa-style seats that accommodate up to four guests. Both concepts include video monitors, charging stations for mobile devices and in-seat wait staff service with exclusive menu options.

The Seattle Children's Playfield is located on the Main Concourse in center field. It lets kids work off excess energy on fun, baseball-themed playground equipment. Next to the Playfield is Moose's Munchies, a concession stand just for kids featuring menu items like peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, small hot dogs, Cracker Jack and soft drinks, all served in a souvenir plastic bucket.

Immediately outside the Playfield is the Seattle Children's Wishing Well. Coins tossed into the Wishing Well are donated to Seattle Children's to support patient care.

The Baseball Museum of the Pacific Northwest and Seattle Mariners Hall of Fame provide a connection to the region's rich baseball history. They are co-located on the Main Concourse along the third base line and are open to all fans during games.

The flagship Mariners Team Store is open year-round with one of the world's largest selections of Mariners apparel and merchandise for men, women and children. The Kid's Clubhouse, located next to the Children's Playfield, caters to children and youth.

Works by 11 Northwest artists are incorporated into the design of the ballpark and parking garage. The ambitious $1.3 million public art program includes a variety of installations that celebrate the game of baseball including a huge bronze mitt outside the Left Field Gate and a chandelier of 1,000 translucent, regulation-sized baseball bats above the Home Plate Gate grand staircase.

SUSTAINABILITY

The Seattle Mariners are committed to operating the franchise and T-Mobile Park in an environmentally responsible manner. In 2017, these efforts earned the Mariners the "Green Glove Award" for the highest recycling rate in Major League Baseball (96%). Every year since 2010, the Mariners have been named American League recycling champions.

In 2015, T-Mobile Park became the first MLB ballpark to illuminate the playing field with LED lights. The lights reduce glare and shadows on the field providing a better experience for players and fans (both at the ballpark and watching at home on HD TV). The lights use 60% less power and have a lifespan of 30-years (vs. three years for the old metal halide lights).

An array of solar panels on the roof of the skybridge to the Mariners parking garage generate 40,000-kilowatt hours of power annually and four electric vehicle charging stations are available to the public year round.

Through conservation and capital investments, the Mariners have made great strides in reducing consumption of electricity, water and natural gas, significantly reducing the team's impact on the environment. (More information is available at Mariners.com/Green.)

BASEBALL MUSEUM OF THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST

The Baseball Museum of the Pacific Northwest and the Seattle Mariners Hall of Fame is located on the Main Concourse (100-level) of T-Mobile Park, opposite sections 132-136. It is open to all fans during every Mariners home game.

With the assistance of noted local baseball historian Dave Eskenazi, the museum tells the story of the rich history of the game of baseball in the Pacific Northwest from the 1880's to today, and displays interesting artifacts, photos and exhibits. The museum space originally opened in 2007. Each year, elements of the displays are updated.

The Seattle Mariners Hall of Fame was established in 1997 to honor the best of Mariners Baseball. There are nine current inductees – Alvin Davis (inducted in 1997), Dave Niehaus (2000), Jay Buhner (2004), Edgar Martinez (2007), Randy Johnson (2012), Dan Wilson (2012), Ken Griffey Jr. (2013), Lou Piniella (2014) and Jamie Moyer (2015).

PEORIA SPORTS COMPLEX

The City of Peoria, Seattle Mariners and San Diego Padres opened the Peoria Sports Complex in 1994, the first shared spring training facility in Arizona. Peoria Stadium is the centerpiece of the complex, which includes five and a half practice fields as well as headquarters for both teams on 145 acres.

- Peoria Stadium underwent extensive renovations in 2016 and 2017, adding seats, two fan pavilion areas and an expanded Team Store. The park seats 12,518 fans. The dimensions of the outfield are 340 ft. down each line, 385 ft. in the power alleys and 410 ft. to center.
- Complex is located 20 miles northwest of downtown Phoenix, just off Loop 101.
- The Mariners used the Padres facilities in the spring training of 1993, when the Seattle club played all its Cactus League games on the road.
- From the Mariners inception in 1977 through 1992, Tempe Diablo Stadium was the spring home of the Mariners.
- The Mariners facilities are used in the summer by their Peoria team (Arizona League), and in the fall for Arizona Fall League baseball.
- The Peoria Sports Complex is "green" and environmentally friendly, and promotes renewable, clean energy. The rooftop solar panels supply nearly half of the facility's annual energy use.

The team Spring Training facilities are LEED Gold certified. LEED certified buildings save money and resources and have a positive impact on the health of occupants, while promoting renewable, clean energy. LEED, or Leadership in Energy & Environmental Design, is a green building certification program that recognizes best-in-class building strategies and practices.

T-MOBILE PARK GROUND RULES

Photographer's Areas

The ball is "in play" if it hits any of the railings defining the photographer wells and bounces back onto the playing field.

Ball Hitting Roof Trusses

A batted ball hitting a roof truss in fair territory shall be judged fair or foul in relation to where it lands or is touched by a fielder. If a batted ball if caught by a fielder, the batter is out and base runners advance at their own risk.

A batted ball hitting a roof truss in foul territory is a dead ball, regardless of where it lands or is caught by a fielder.

Outfield Area

Netting in the right field corner in foul territory is above and beyond the wall. A batted ball that bounds into the netting is a dead ball whether or not it rebounds onto the playing field: Two Bases.

Dugouts

A ball must enter the dugout to be considered a dead ball.

Movement of Roof

If a game is started with the roof closed, it may be opened when, in the opinion of the home club, climactic conditions warrant such opening. However, roof may be opened only once during a game and shall commence only between innings after the umpire crew chief has been notified. Prior to opening of roof, the visiting club may challenge the opening if it feels a competitive imbalance will arise. The crew chief will make a final decision based on the merits of the challenge.

If a game is started with the roof open, it may be closed during the game. The decision to close the roof shall be made by the home club, and may be made solely for the comfort of its fans. Play will continue during roof closure if possible. However, the umpires have the right to stop play during this process if they determine it is necessary to do so.

KINGDOME FAREWELL

After 22-and-a-half years, the Seattle Mariners said farewell to the Kingdome on Sunday, June 27, 1999. A sold-out crowd of 56,530 fans watched the Mariners defeat the Texas Rangers 5-2. A post-game ceremony featured a ceremonial "final pitch" in the Kingdome, as Bob "Scrap Iron" Stinson caught a pitch tossed by Cory Segui, the grandson of Diego Segui. Segui and Stinson made up the starting battery of the Mariners inaugural game on April 6, 1977. Mariners Legends who participated in the post-game ceremony included Hall of Famer Gaylord Perry, Ruppert Jones, Alvin Davis, Julio Cruz and Harold Reynolds.

BROADCASTERS

RICK RIZZS, the Mariners primary voice on radio, is in his 36th season with the broadcast team in 2021. His 35 years, through 2020, with the Mariners surpassed Dave Niehaus as the longest-tenured broadcaster in club history. Rick has been a part of the Mariners broadcast team continuously since 1995, following an original nine-year stint with the club from 1983-1991.

Rick received the 2017 Keith Jackson Award from the Seattle Sports Commission for excellence in communicating the sports stories of our state.

Rick is a 1975 graduate of Southern Illinois University in Carbondale. From 1975-80, he handled double-A baseball play-by-play duties for Alexandria, Amarillo and Memphis. He became the sports director at WBNS radio in Columbus, Ohio in 1981, where he called Ohio State football and Triple-A baseball for two seasons. He was named the Ohio "Sportscaster of the Year" in 1981 by the Ohio Sportscasters Association. Rick was originally hired to broadcast Mariners games in 1983 and spent nine seasons with the club. In 2000, Rick was named the Chicago-area sportscaster of the year by the Chicago Pitch and Hit Club. He also spent three seasons calling the play-by-play with Bob Rathbun on radio for the Detroit Tigers from 1992-94.

Throughout the year, Rick also heads Toys For Kids, a non-profit he co-founded in 1995. In 2020, Toys for Kids donated toys for more than 12,000 homeless and hospitalized children and presented six $5,000 Dave Henderson college scholarship awards. Rick resides in Issaquah. He has one son, Nick, two grandsons, Jaxon and Braedon , and one granddaughter, Ryan.

DAVE SIMS is in his 15th season with the Mariners broadcast team. He has won three consecutive Washington Sportscaster of the Year awards from the National Sports Media Association. Sims, who has play-by-play duties on Mariners television broadcasts, is familiar to sports fans for calling MLB and college basketball games on ESPN, as well as NCAA Basketball and NFL play-by-play on Westwood One.

He co-hosts “Basketball & Beyond with Coach K” for Sirius XM with Duke University coach Mike Krzyzewski, is a correspondent for MLB Network and calls Big East college basketball on FS1. The two-time Emmy Award winner also won the American Football Foundation's Outstanding Sportscaster Award in 2003 and the Big East Media Award in 2005. Sims began his career as a sportswriter for the New York Daily News prior to becoming a weekend sports anchor at WCBS-TV. In 1991, he joined ESPN as a play-by-play announcer for college basketball. From 1998-2014, he did NFL play-by-play, including Sunday Night and Monday Night Football, as well as the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, for Westwood One.

Sims grew up in Philadelphia and graduated from Bethany College in West Virginia. From 1998-2007, Sims and his wife Abby ran "AthletiSense," an athletes media coaching program that worked with football and basketball teams in the PAC-12, Big East, Big 12, Atlantic 10, and Mountain West. They have two sons, and two granddaughters.

MIKE BLOWERS, who enters his 15th season as the Mariners television analyst, is a long-time fan favorite who did three tours with the Mariners (1992-1995, 1997, 1999). Prior to joining the Mariners broadcast team in 2007, Blowers spent four years as the pre- and post-game analyst on KOMO 1000 News broadcasts of Mariners games. Blowers was a stand-out at Bethel High School in Spanaway, WA, and was a Pac-10 Triple Crown winner while with the University of Washington. During his 11-year MLB career, Blowers also played for the Yankees (1989-91), Dodgers (1996) and Athletics (1998). He played in the postseason with the Mariners in 1995 and 1997. During Seattle's memorable 1995 season, he set career highs in almost every statistical category, including 113 hits, 24 doubles, 23 homers and 96 RBI. He tied a Major League record with three grand slams in a single month in August of '95, when he hit .283 with nine homers and a club-record tying 33 RBI. Blowers received the first-ever "Unsung Hero" award from the Seattle chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America in 1993. He was originally selected by the Montreal Expos in the 10th round of the 1986 June draft. After being traded to the Yankees on Aug. 29, 1989, Blowers made his Major League debut with the Yankees on Sept. 1 vs. California. He made his first ML start against the Mariners on Sept. 5, 1989. Blowers lives in Graham, with his wife Nicole and their four children.

AARON GOLDSMITH enters his ninth season with the Mariners broadcast team in 2021. Goldsmith calls Mariners baseball on radio and TV, and is actively involved in non-game related broadcasting, including the Mariners Hot Stove Show, Cactus League Report and Sunday Mariners Magazine. He also hosts The Wheelhouse with Jerry Dipoto, a podcast with the Mariners General Manager. Aaron broadcasts Major League Baseball, college football and college basketball on FOX, FS1 and Pac-12 Network.

A St. Louis, Mo., native, Aaron graduated from Principia College in Elsah, IL, with a BA in history. After college he attended the Broadcast Center in St. Louis, earning a certificate in Radio Broadcasting and Production. He spent the 2012 season as the lead announcer for the Triple-A Pawtucket Red Sox. Prior to joining Pawtucket, Goldsmith spent the 2010 and 2011 seasons as the radio broadcaster for the Frisco RoughRiders, the Double-A affiliate of the Texas Rangers. He also served as the team's Manager of Broadcasting/Media Development. In 2009, Aaron was the broadcaster/studio host for the Portland Sea Dogs, the Red Sox Double-A affiliate in the Eastern League. Goldsmith began his broadcast career in 2007 with the Gateway Grizzlies in the independent Frontier League, and called the Bourne Braves games in the Cape Cod Baseball League in 2008. Aaron lives in Seattle with his wife and three children.

GARY HILL JR. enters his fourth season as the Executive Producer/Engineer for all Mariners radio broadcasts in 2021. The Tacoma native joined the club full-time in 2018 after spending 8 seasons in a variety of roles with the Mariners Radio Network from 2010-2017.

Since 2010, Gary has hosted Mariners pre- and post-game shows, filled in on play-by-play duties, hosted the Mariners official daily podcast and contributed to the Sunday Mariners Magazine. In his current role, he continues to have an on-air presence as a member of the Mariners broadcast team. After graduating from Washington State University in 2000, Gary has been a fixture on local sports radio, covering baseball, basketball and football. A CAPSULE HISTORY OF PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL IN SEATTLE

1890: The first professional baseball team in Seattle was organized. The Seattle Reds played in the Class-C Pacific Northwest League.

1892: The Reds (first-half champions) won the PNL Pennant when the Portland club declined to enter the playoffs because of financial problems.

1896: Club was re-named "Braves" and moved into its first stadium (Athletic Park – 14th and Yesler).

1903: The AAA Pacific Coast League was formed and Seattle was a charter member. Thus, Seattle had two professional baseball teams for one season (the Braves played in the Pacific National League and folded after one year).

1906-17: Seattle ended its membership in the PCL and joined the Class-B Northwestern League.

1919: Seattle re-joined the PCL. The club was named "Indians" and played a 225-game schedule (the extended season format continued through the 1957 PCL season).

1937: Emil Sick bought the Seattle franchise for $115,000 and immediately changed the nickname to "Rainiers" (Mr. Sick also owned and operated the Rainier Brewing Company).

1938: On June 15, the Rainiers moved into Sick's Seattle Stadium (capacity of 11,500). Local sports hero Fred Hutchinson went 25-7 in his rookie season.

1939-41: The Rainiers won three consecutive PCL pennants.

1946: Seattle Steelheads of West Coast Negro Baseball League played the inaugural game of their only season on June 1 vs. San Diego Tigers at Sicks' Stadium.

1955: Hutchinson returned as manager of the Rainiers and led the club to another PCL crown. In addition, the first official proposal for a domed stadium in Seattle was made (bond issues for the project failed in 1960 and 1964).

1960: Sick sold the club to the Boston Red Sox. Seattle became the Red Sox AAA affiliate.

1965-68: The California Angels purchased the club and Bob Lemon managed Seattle to its last PCL baseball championship in 1966.

1967: Public approval was given for funds needed to build a domed stadium (completion was scheduled to be prior to the 1972 season).

1969: An expansion team, the Seattle Pilots came into existence and began play in the American League. Sicks Stadium was expanded to seat 28,500.

1970: On March 31, financial difficulties resulted in the Pilots moving to Milwaukee (club was re-named "Brewers"). Plans to build a domed stadium were temporarily interrupted.

1972-76: Seattle fielded a team in the Class-A Northwest League.

1977: On April 6, Major League Baseball returned to Seattle when the Mariners played the California Angels before a Kingdome crowd of 57,762. The Mariners starting pitcher that night was Diego Segui, a member of the 1969 Pilots.

1979: The 50th MLB All-Star Game was played at the Kingdome on July 17. The NL defeated the AL 7-6.

1995: On October 2, Seattle won its first American League West pennant.

1999: On June 27, Mariners played their last game in Kingdome, defeating Texas 5-2.

1999: On July 15, Seattle played its first game in the new outdoor ballpark, T-Mobile Park, against the San Diego Padres, losing 3-2.

2001: On October 6, Seattle tied a ML record by recording its 116th win of the season.

2012: On Aug. 15 vs. Tampa Bay, Félix Hernández threw the first perfect game in club history.

2016: On July 24 in Cooperstown, NY, Ken Griffey Jr. became the first player inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame as a Mariner.

2019: On July 21 in Cooperstown, NY, Edgar Martinez became the second Mariner to be inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame.

2020: Played a 60-game shortened season, beginning in late-July, in response to the COVID-19 pandemic that struck the world in March.
